GERMAN NOTE

Reaches Washington—Concessions Made On Submarine Warfare—President Wilson Makes No Statement as to Whether Note Is Acceptable.

Washington, May 6.—While the final decision on the attitude of the American government waits on the official text, some cabinet members indicated that the German assurances probably would be accepted and that diplomatic relations would not be broken unless the order to submarine commanders was violated and American lives endangered.

Washington, May 6.—President Wilson and the cabinet went carefully over the German note as transmitted in news dispatches from Berlin.

A first feeling that it was unsatisfactory, was somewhat lessened by the text of the new orders to submarine commanders, although it was foreseen that the reference to immunity for merchant ships recognized by international law might admit of some dispute of interpretation.

So much depends upon words and their shades of meaning involved in translation from German to English that no decision can be attempted until the official text is in the President's hands.

When the cabinet meeting broke up Secretary Lansing met all inquiries with this reply:

"I can not discuss it at all at this time."

All the other members of the cabinet made similar statements. It was made plain that President Wilson would decide after studying the official text.

At the State Department, after the cabinet meeting, it was stated that no "hasty" action would be taken on the German note, and that in view of its length and the necessity of digesting it carefully, it was "improbable" that any decision would be reached before next week.

The cabinet was in session two hours and a half—the longest meeting held in several months.

Members of the cabinet were uncommunicative, all saying that no further steps would be taken until the official text was placed before President Wilson.

The private view of officials apparently was that the new orders to submarine commanders apparently met the demands of the United States unless an interpretation were placed on them to lead to attack on merchant vessels armed for defensive purposes. The general tenor of the German note, however, was considered unsatisfactory.

Ambassador Gerard cabled yesterday that he had started it on the cables and that it should be in Washington tonight.

SWEARS BLACK TEXAS FIRED SHOT THAT KILLED ENGINEER GIBSON.

James Williams, alias "Roadsport," entered a plea of guilty to a charge of murder in the first degree at 11:30 Friday morning at Ashland and in less than half an hour heard his sentence, "life imprisonment in the Kentucky penitentiary."

His plea and sentence followed the submission to Judge Halbert a sworn statement in which he confessed that he was one of the four negroes who held up and robbed C. & O. Engineer Joseph C. Gibson and Fireman Clarence Griffith in a freight car in lower Ashland on the night of September 9, 1915, following which Mr. Gibson was shot and instantly killed.

"Roadsport" claims that "Black Texas," who has already paid the penalty for his part in the crime with his life in the electric chair, fired the fatal shot.

THE YEUILL MEETINGS.

Evangelist Yeuill arrived Saturday in the morning and at the Christian church warehouse at night. No afternoon meeting tomorrow. The meetings at the warehouse will all be on as high plane as if held in the church. Like the chautauqua, it must be held in the largest place. These meetings will appeal to the best citizens as well as to the public in general. Dr. Yeuill has all the culture of a minister with his enthusiasm of an evangelist.

The warehouse has been transformed into a tabernacle with elevated chairs and platform and seating for over 1,200 people. For days the men have worked to clean up the place and get it into its present order. Additional gas and electric lights have been installed. All persons coming in autos should know that a special officer has been hired by the church to look after the cars during the services. All cars can be parked on Poplar street. From all reports the people from the county as well as the city, will attend these services.

BIDDY BEERS TO CATCH FOR THE COLTS.

(Lexington Leader.)

Biddy Beers of Charleston, S. C., will arrive in Lexington Saturday to join the Colts, and will be one of the catching staff for the team during the season. The announcement that this crack player, who managed the Charleston team last year, has been retained, will come as a gratifying surprise to local fans. His accession means material strength to a team which already gives extraordinary promise.

MRS. STEWART GIVEN GENEROUS RECEPTION.

Washington, May 6.—Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart of Kentucky, who was one of the speakers at the National Conservation Congress here, her subject having to do with the line of work in which she is most interested, the doing away with illiteracy, was most generously received by the members of the Congress. Mrs. Stewart also was pleasantly entertained while here by Kentuckians and others.

FIFTEEN CARLOADS OF TOBACCO SENT TO LOUISVILLE.

Robert Wells, one of the leading tobacco buyers in this section, has shipped to Louisville 175,000 pounds of 3-year-old tobacco that was bought at 5 cents per pound. It was prized in 175 hogsheads and was a solid train of fifteen cars over the L. & N. from here. The sale consisted of about 300,000, the balance to go forward soon.

Misses Maud Ellis and Amy Baugh and Mr. Robert Toup, representing the Christian church of this city, are attending the Kentucky Christian Endeavor convention at Lexington.

"GO-TO-SUNDAY-SCHOOL DAY."

I'm thinking of the olden days,
And as I think, somehow my gaze
Just takes in every place and spot
Once dear to me, but oft' forgot.
And I can see them all as plain
As if I lived right there again,
And all the friends and folks I knew
And liked so well, I see them, too.
But standing out from all the rest
There's one spot mighty dear and blest—
The little Sunday school we had Where I would go with Ma and Dad.
In fancy I can hear them sing
Those good old songs—my how they'd ring
As soon as we would get a start,
For we knew all the songs by heart.
There weren't many of us there;
The school was small, but I declare
When I go back through all the years,
My eyes grow dim with unshed tears.
The teacher's gone—and others, too,
Who tried so faithfully and true
To start us on the narrow way
That leads from earth to endless day.
I'm not so bad, for I can see
Some folks a whole lot worse than me;
Sure, that don't help my case a bit,
Yet I just thought I'd mention it.
But I've made up my mind to go
To Sunday school again—that's so.
I mean it, too—next Sunday morn.
And I'll be there, sure as you're born.
It's "Go-to-Sunday School Day" for me,
And I can hardly wait to see How things have changed since then, you know.
When I quit going, years ago.

—Hal J. Weigle.

PROBLEMS OF RETAIL TRADE

(No. 5.)

A merchant on being asked what he considered the greatest difficulty in retail trade remarked that he thought it was the lack of the spirit of unity among the merchants. He felt that they did not take competition in the right spirit. If they found themselves undersold by a competitor, they conceived a grudge against the man that underbid them. They call him a cut-throat, would scarcely speak to him on the street, and would not work with him for the general upbuilding of the town.No man who is fit to serve the public through retail trade ought to fret at healthy competition. A little rivalry spurs a man to do his best. No man who has a good grip of his calling complains about it. He looks at it as a part of his training. Every time that he is worsted in fair competition he feels that something has been added to his business education by which he will profit next time.If he finds himself undersold, let him study the costs of his business, the problem of getting new trade and of buying right, instead of complaining at the activity of a competitor.Then he will be able to build up his own lines of trade secure from competition. When a merchant gets sore on his competitors it is a sign that he is playing a losing game.While competition is healthful, it can, of course, be overdone. If goods are sold too close, the trade of a town tends to be cut up into a large number of little stores, none of them big enough to do business cheaply or to serve the public efficiently.Business men will find they can head off unfair competition best by cultivating the friendship of each other.
Let them discuss what should be the prices in standard lines, and make more effort to establish a basis for mutual co-operation and good natured competition.

AUTO AND ANIMAL EXPORTS.

(New York Times.)

The enormous export business built up in this country as the result of the war, in automobiles, horses and mules were reflected in a statement issued yesterday by the foreign trade department of the National City Bank.
It showed that nearly $300,000,000 worth of cars and animals had been exported since the beginning of hostilities. The value of automobiles and their equipment shipped out of the United States from the start of the war to date in round terms amounted to $180,000,000, and of horses and mules and their equipment an equal sum. Last week's records show that the port of New York shipped out nearly $2,000,000 worth of automobiles and about a like value of horses and mules.France was the largest buyer of American horses, nearly one-half of the animals exported going to that country direct for immediate use in the war zone. The shipments for the seven months ending with January, 1916, were of horses to France, 122-000, to Great Britain, 38,000, and to Canada, 77,000. Most of the horses shipped to Canada found their way to the battlefields.The total number of automobiles exported to France in the seven-month period was 3,000, against more thanNEW GOODS ARRIVING DAILY AT THE

BREAK EXPECTED

WITH GERMANY AT CAPITOL—REPLY TO AMERICAN NOTE REACHES WASHINGTON.

German Answer Concerning Submarine Warfare Presages Rupture of Diplomatic Relations.

Washington, May 5.—Germany late last night sent to the United States, through James W. Gerard, the American ambassador in Berlin, the reply to the American ultimatum concerning submarine warfare and it is feared that its contents are such as to make a continuance of amicable relations impossible.

The reply is the longest diplomatic document of the present war and, as it was not filed for dispatch by wireless until long after midnight, it is not expected to be complete in the hands of the State Department until late today.

From an authentic source in Berlin, officials here received information by wireless during the day that there was considerable perturbation throughout Germany when it was learned that certain important concessions had been made to the United States on submarine warfare, but the great mass of people in Germany, it was said, show a desire to avoid a breach in the diplomatic relations with this country. They demand, however, that the principles enunciated in the German manifesto of February 8, regarding submarine warfare, shall not be sacrificed.

From the same quarters in Berlin it is learned that this manifesto is adhered to throughout the reply, which dwells at length also on the German attitude toward the British "starvation" policy.

In spite of Secretary Lansing's flat refusal to discuss the contents of a dispatch received from Ambassador Gerard, it became known that, in view of such information as has been received, official and unofficial, officials of the government fear that Germany has attached conditions to her reply that may make it impossible for the United States to continue diplomatic relations.

In a memorandum prepared at the direction of President Wilson and made public a few days after the dispatch of the last note to Germany, Secretary Lansing restated the American attitude toward armed merchantmen, declaring that they should be considered and treated as peaceful vessels if their armament was carrier and used for defense only.

While most of the officials would not comment on the Berlin reference to the manifesto of February 8, they reiterated that the President was prepared to stand unalterably by the position taken in the late note. The note, which was designed to permit of no argument, gave notice that unless Germany immediately declared and effected an abandonment of present methods of submarine warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels the United States could not do otherwise than to sever diplomatic relations.

The German memorandum of February 8 was addressed to neutral nations and declared that after February 29, Germany would consider all armed merchantmen belonging to countries at war with Germany as warships, and that such vessels would be treated accordingly and sunk without warning.

It charged that before the outbreak of the war the British government had given British shipping companies an opportunity to arm merchantmen with guns for protection against dangers.

"Threatening under certain circumstances from auxiliary cruisers of other powers." The British admiral, it was added, published in January, 1914, a list of twenty-nine steamers of various English lines carried stern guns.

Germany established soon after the outbreak of the war, the memorandum said, that English liners were armed, the steamer La Ceresentia having been captured carrying two four-pound seven-inch stern guns and a German submarine having been fired upon in the channel by an English yacht.

The memorandum said the British government, for its own merchantmen, had taken the standpoint that armed merchantmen maintained the character of peaceful mercantile vessels so long as they only carried armament for defensive purposes, but that in the case of armed ships under other flags it had adopted the principle that they were to be treated as warships.

"The German government," the memorandum continued, "has no doubt that merchantmen acquire a belligerent character through arming with cannon, no matter whether the guns shall serve only for defense or attack. It considers every warlike activity of enemy merchantmen as contrary to international law, although it takes into consideration the opposing views, through the fact that it treats the crews of such ships, not as pirates, but as belligerents."

The memorandum said that numerous cases had come to light from reports of the German naval forces "in which British merchantmen not only offered armed resistance to German warships, but on their own part, proceeded without further ado to attack them, in which attacks they frequently made use of false colors."

Appendices to the communication purported to be photographic copies of instructions of the British admiralty describing the procedure of armed British merchantmen which were found on captured ships. They were alleged to contain precise regulations concerning the reception, treatment, activity and control of British gun crews aboard merchantmen.

"Under these instructions," the memorandum said, "it is rendered clear that armed English merchant ships have official permission treacherously to attack German submarines when they come near; that is to wage war against them unscrupulously."

MOSLEM GROWTH IS THREATENING CHRISTIANITY, METHODISTS HEAR.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., May 5.—Unless Christianity takes immediate steps to check the rapid extension of Mohammedanism in Africa by the furnishing of more missionaries and money to carry on their work millions will be won for the project in a few years.

This was the salient point of the report of the board of foreign missions read before the Methodist Episcopal general conference at yesterday session. The report also gave a line on the activities of missionaries in Europe, South America, China, Japan, Philippines, India and Mexico. The board stated that the Dark Continent is the great battle ground of Christianity and Mohammedanism.

In closing the report asked for an appropriation of at least for $500,000 use by the board of missions in Europe. It adds that upon the conclusion of the war the church will face such commanding opportunities as will startle even those "accustomed to the swift panorama of a changing world."

The proposed union of the branches of Methodism was brought officially to the attention of the delegates for the first time in the form of a report submitted by Bishop Earl Cranston of Washington, D. C., in behalf of the commission on federation which has represented the general conference in preliminary negotiations. The commission reported that "every difficulty we have overcome points imperatively toward the union of American Methodism."

No special plan of union was endorsed, but instead the commission recommended the appointment of a commission of sixty members, with directions to report not later than May 15, with definite suggestions for federation. To this committee all proposals pertaining to unification are to be referred in the meantime.

AID THE KIDNEYS

Maysville Sufferers Should Take No Further Risk.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, laguer—why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a tested remedy is offered them?

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, act now, for gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease may set in and make neglect dangerous. Can Maysville residents demand more convincing proof than the following:

A. Sorries, locksmith, Aberdeen, O., says: "The action of my kidneys was irregular and the kidney secretions contained sediment. I had backache and when stooping, it was hard for me to straighten. Colds always settled on my kidneys. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they stopped the trouble and my kidneys became strong."

IT'S UP TO RUPERT TO LIVE UP TO HIS CONTRACT.

New York.—When the Newark Federal League baseball team went out of existence recently Patrick T. Powers, one of the owners, got rid of all the players except Rupert Mills, a high school graduate, who was under contract to play first base for two years at $3,000 a year. A few days ago Mills sought Powers and asked as to his future.

"I have no place to put you," replied the former magnate.

"There's a year left of my contract, and I'll hold you to it. I'm ready to play, so you get ready to pay."

"Do you want to play alone?" queried Powers, getting an inspiration.

"I don't care if I do."
"All right, then," exclaimed Powers. "Report for practice from 9 to 12 o'clock every morning on the grounds at Harrison, and return every afternoon at 2 o'clock and play the game alone until 6."

Coming right down to cases, a gentleman is merely a man who will stand up in a crowded car for a woman.

Tenacious Tires—of black "Barefoot" Rubber

"LIKE a Pup to a Root," do they hang on to the Earth, when you throw in the Clutch, or throw on the Brakes.

But,—instead of merely grinding against said Earth,—for Traction,—they CLING to it, much as your bare foot clings to slippery surfaces.

This new and wonderful Goodrich "Barefoot Rubber," is as stretchy almost as a pure Rubber band,—light-weight as Rubber in its native amber color, but stronger, tougher, longer-wearing (in Tires) than pure Rubber could ever be.

That Lightness, Stretch, and CLING-quality is due, in part, to the absence of the heavy and inert white substances which, in other Tires, provide the gritty texture designed to give effective but grinding Traction, when Clutch or Brakes do their work.

To provide its maximum Traction with minimum Friction (which means minimum Heat, minimum Tread-Wear, and lessened Strain on the rubber adhesive between fabric layers).—

—That's the Mission of the new Goodrich "Barefoot Rubber."

How well it does this work,—how much more Resilience, Comfort-in-riding, and Mileage, it gives,—may be realized only by test.

"BAREFOOT RUBBER" can be had in Goodrich Safety-Tread Tires,—Goodrich Motor-Cycle Tires,—Goodrich Bicycle Tires,—Goodrich Truck Tires,—Goodrich Rubber Boots, Overshoes, Soles and Heels, and in no other make but Goodrich.

Get a sample of it, at the nearest Goodrich Branch or Depot today.

Stretch it thousands of times, but tear its fibres you can't.

With all this,—observe that the best Fabric Tires in America—made of this TENACIOUS "Barefoot" Rubber,—cost you no more (and usually less), than ordinary Tires made by other responsible manufacturers.

No "larger-sized" Tires (taken Size for Size and Type for Type), are made than Goodrich Black-Tread Tires.

Why, then, should any Business Man pay more than the Goodrich "Fair-List" Price, for any Tire, until he has at least tested one pair of these new "Barefoot" Rubber Goodrich Tires?

BALL OF FIRE CAUSES STAMPEDE

The unusual sight of an immense ball of fire in the grave yard, upon the river hill, back of Augusta, one night last week, threw the colony of colored people living in the upper part of that town into such state of excitement that amid tears and supplication they called upon the Lord to protect them. Some young men had mischievously lighted a railroad signal fuse, which made a ball of fire about the size of a bucket. With the reflection thrown against the tombstones, the perpetrators of the prank ran the hill telling "Doc" Preston, a colored man living near the cemetery, that something unusual was happening. This was enough. Preston spread the alarm and soon the alley was filled with the inhabitants thereof. Thinking the day of judgment had arrived one good old woman called upon the Lord to take her but to leave her son. Colored people are said to have prayed earnestly who had never before been known to indulge. In fact, it is stated that some white people were mystified by the freakish spectacle before the exact situation was learned.

SEES NO CHANCE FOR PEACE.

Washington, May 6.—Thomas Nelson Page, American ambassador to Italy, who saw President Wilson yesterday, said he saw no immediate prospect for peace in Europe but believed that when peace came it would suddenly just as the war was begun. He thought peace would follow a great victory. He did not think that efforts to mediate would be welcomed at this time. Ambassador Page conferred for an hour with the President with conditions in Italy and sentiment in other parts of Europe.

Appropriate dedicatory services were held for the new Methodist church erected at West Union, Sunday. The new structure is recognized as one of the most modern for the size in the country.

As Presented by the Senior Class of the Maysville High School Friday Night Was Thoroughly Enjoyed by Large Audience.

One of the most enjoyable amateur performances ever given in this city was that presented by the Senior Class of the Maysville High School Friday night when the dramatization of George Eliot's novel "Silas Marner" was enjoyed by a large and appreciative audience.

The play was a judicious mixture of the serious and comic and each of the six acts showed some very good acting by the different members of the class.

Each and every one in the class did honor to Miss Florence Shaw, who has been untiring in her efforts to make the play a success. It would be an injustice to pick out any particular one as the best, owing to the fact that all were good.

SPRING TRAINING NOTES.

William Kuhlman of Cincinnati, who played third base for Paris in the old Blue Grass League under Ed. McKennan, has just signed a contract to manage the Valdosta, Ga., team. He came up from Cincinnati to see if he could secure a pitcher from Manager Jones, and was allowed to take Bob Frisch with him. Manager Jones would have had to tie the can to some of the youngsters in a few days anyhow, and was only too glad to land the job for Frisch, who may develop into a good pitcher when he gets a little better control.

Catcher O'Connor, who came for a tryout with the locals, left Friday for his home in Bradford, Pa. O'Connor went south with the Philadelphia Nationals this spring and was a clever backstop, but he wanted a salary which would have been more than the manager's, or about one-fourth of the salary limit.

Several workmen are now engaged in putting the park in good shape for the opener. During the winter the park has no caretaker and is very badly abused by the youngsters.

When the season opens the fences will be decorated with a number of new signs, which are the work of local artists.
